

Annie's Italy
Venetian Food Tours
2020/2021

Experience a food journey like no other...

When I was just eight years old, I visited the place of my heritage in the north of Italy to spend three months with my family. It was at this time, that I started a love affair with the foodie delights, the smells and the tastes of Italy. A love, that even today, runs deep through my heart.

My guests enjoy an intimate tour that indulges their senses on every level. It's the real tastes; the real smells; the real food; and the real people that we get to share on a journey through my ancestral homeland.

My tours are all about experiencing the real Italy, and actually feeling something.

I hope you can join me for the experience.
